

UNIT 74

GRAPHS

CONVERSATION

Carla: Alright, team, let's jump in. Give us a quick read of what's happening in your graphs. Mia, you're first.

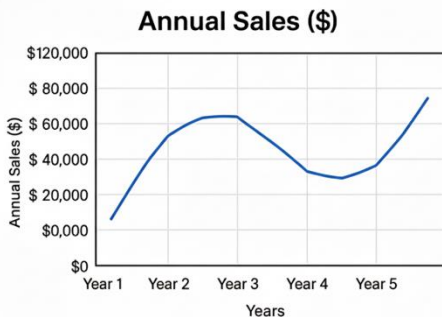

Mia: Sure. So, at the start, traffic goes up slightly in the first two weeks. Then here in week three, it soars — that jump is significantly higher than normal.

Right after that, in week four, the line drops sharply because of the server issue. After the fix, the numbers stay steady for a bit.

Around weeks six and seven, traffic fluctuates slightly, nothing major.

And at the end, it skyrockets again and hits our highest point of the year.

Carla: Great, super clear. Nice job.

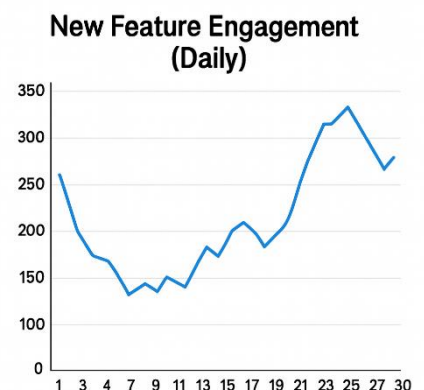

Evan: Alright, here we've got annual sales. From Year 1 to Year 2, things go up gradually.

Then in Year 3, sales drop sharply — that was a harsh setback. The next year basically stays steady, not much change. And in Year 5, sales soar, with a significantly strong jump compared to the previous years.

Carla: Perfect, thanks, Evan.

Nina: Okay, looking at this one, engagement skyrockets on launch day — significantly higher than usual. A few days later, it drops significantly, which makes sense once the excitement fades.

Mid-month, engagement fluctuates slightly, just small shifts each day. Then near the end, it soars again—getting even higher than on launch day.

VOCABULARY

Go up

Soar

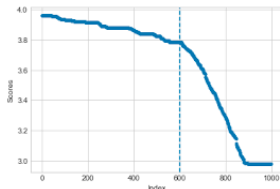

Skyrocket

Fluctuate

Go down

Drop

Setback

Stay steady

LANGUAGE PRACTICE

Adverbs of degree

Engagement soared dramatically after the campaign went live.

Sales went down slightly last month.

Adverbs

dramatically greatly sharply significantly considerably substantially gradually somewhat fairly slightly

GRAPHS

EXERCISE 1

- A. a) Sales go up fairly.
b) Sales drop sharply.
c) Sales fluctuate dramatically.
- B. a) Profit stays steady.
b) Profit rises slightly.
c) Profit drops gradually.
- C. a) Sales go up slightly.
b) Sales go down considerably.
c) Sales fluctuate dramatically.
- D. a) Sales stay steady.
b) Sales soar sharply.
c) Sales fluctuate dramatically.
- E. a) Sales go up slightly.
b) Sales go down somewhat.
c) Sales fluctuate substantially.
- F. a) Numbers drop dramatically.
b) Numbers go up steadily.
c) Numbers fluctuate considerably.

EXERCISE 2

Complete each sentence with the most appropriate adverb of degree. More than one may be possible. Choose from the list: dramatically, greatly, sharply, significantly, considerably, substantially, gradually, somewhat, fairly, slightly.

- A. Sales skyrocketed dramatically after the product launch — it was the strongest quarter we've had in years.
- B. Website traffic went down _____ once the holiday season ended, but nothing serious.
- C. Profits increased _____ after we adjusted the pricing strategy, surprising the finance team.
- D. Customer satisfaction improved _____ throughout the year, rising month by month.
- E. App downloads grew _____ during the influencer campaign — the jump was astounding.
- F. Engagement levels fluctuated _____ after the update, with small ups and downs but no major shifts.

SUMMARY

Adverbs of degree	Position / Use
dramatically, greatly, sharply, significantly, substantially, considerably, quite, somewhat, fairly, slightly	These adverbs come after the main verb (Sales have increased dramatically.) or before the main verb (Sales have dramatically increased.). They describe how strong the change is in a graph; examples: - Sales soared dramatically - Traffic dropped slightly.

EXERCISES ANSWER KEYS

Exercise 1

- A. a
- B. c
- C. b
- D. b
- E. b
- F. c

Exercise 2

Answers vary between:

- A. dramatically / sharply / significantly / greatly / substantially / considerably
- B. slightly / somewhat / fairly
- C. significantly / substantially / considerably / greatly / dramatically / sharply
- D. gradually / significantly / substantially / considerably
- E. dramatically / significantly / substantially / considerably /
greatly / sharply
- F. slightly / somewhat / fairly /