CARS OR PEOPLE?

Outline: Andressa Lima does her shopping every day in Brás, a busy market town. Yesterday as she was crossing the street, she was hit by a car. Now, she is in hospital.

Characters:

Andressa Lima

Jailson Andrade – the driver of the car, which hit Miss. Lima.

Marco Antonio – a traffic policeman

Edison Celulari – a car salesman

Amanda Pedroso – an art student.

1 Andressa Lima: The driver was going much too fast. Brás street is a shopping center, not a race course. There are old people and children crossing the road all the time. Cars should not be allowed into the shopping area. Why should everybody suffer because a few selfish people are too lazy to walk to nearby areas?

2 Jailson Andrade – She stopped straight out in front of me without looking. What could I do? She is lucky to be alive. She should have used the pedestrian crossing. The police should stop people from walking on the road. Roads are for cars, not for people.

3 Marco Antonio – Accidents like this happen all the time. When people are shopping, they think about nothing else. They forget about road safety. Drivers are just as bad. They become frustrated with traffic jams and parking problems and get careless and impatient. The only way to prevent accidents here is by banning cars from using this area.

4 Edison Celulari – These days everyone needs a car. It is the cheapest, fastest, most comfortable way to get around. It is especially convenient for shopping. Why wait hours in the rain for crowded buses and struggle with heavy parcels?

5 Amanda Pedroso – Motorists are so selfish. They only think about their own comfort and forget about the suffering they cause other people. They poison our air with exhaust, shatter our ears with noise and wreck our nerves with dangerous driving.

COMPOSITION

Write about a situation (maybe on TV) in which you saw a person being hit by a car. Was the victim or the driver right? Do you agree the cars should be banned in certain areas even though the roads were made for them?
