STRANDED ON A DESERT ISLAND

Teacher's note: get 6 pieces of paper, number them from 1 to 6 and have each student draw one, to see which character they will be. Should there be fewer than 6 students, the teacher will play the role of the reporter.

A group of people chartered a small plane to go to New Zealand on vacation. The plane crashed and five of them are stranded on a desert island near Borneo. They have been there for six years now and have just been rescued by an ocean liner. A reporter is asking them questions.

1. Reporter: You are a reporter for 'SEC News'. First ask each one of them for personal information: Where are you from? How old are you? Are you married? Do you have any children?
Then make specific questions like: How did the plane crash? Were there any other survivors or just you? What was the first thing you did after the crash? How did you get food? What kind of food was it? How did you manage to build a fire for the first time? How did you manage to keep burning fires after that? Was there any occasion when you could not build a fire and had to go without cooked food? Did you have any problems with animals, insects, etc.? What kind of entertainment did you have? Did you make any musical instruments? How did you make them? Did they work well?
Lastly ask them: What food or drink do you miss the most? Do you miss a hot shower? Do you miss clean blankets and sheets, a warm bed, a pillow? What will be the first thing you do when you are back to civilization? You were all supposed to be dead. Do you think your spouse will still be waiting? You, the doctor, were engaged to be married. Do you think your bride or groom will still be waiting? The engineer's parents died a year after the plane crashed. They left a big fortune. Do you think the fortune will still be there or have the next of kin taken hold of it?
2. Doctor: you are American, 32 at the time of the crash. You were engaged to be married. You were obviously chosen to take care of the 'patients' but you had no supplies, no drugs, nothing that could help. You had to use your common sense. You also have a degree in psychology.
3. Co-pilot: you are Canadian. You were 28 when the plane crashed. You had a spouse who was 22, a boy who was 9 and a girl who was 7 at the time. All communication equipment was lost and the police person's radio battery died after a few days. You were responsible for sending the SOS signals in the first days. You are crazy about soccer.
4. Police person: you are British and you were 45 when this all started. You were widowed 3 months before the plane crash. You took hold of the situation and named yourself as the person responsible for their security. You love going fishing and hunting.
5. Engineer: you are Irish, 32, married and you have no children. You were chosen to build the shelter. You are a handicraft expert.
6. Accountant: you are Australian, 34, single but you have 2 boys who were 5 and 7 at the time of the accident. You were completely useless in the first days as you had broken both your legs. You did the cooking after the accident. You are very fond of music.
