The Company Dinner

Every year, GreenWave Solutions organizes a dinner for all employees to celebrate the end of another busy season. This time, the dinner took place at a small Italian restaurant near the city center. The atmosphere was friendly and relaxed, with soft music playing in the background and the smell of fresh pasta in the air.

Lena, who had joined the company only two months earlier, was a little nervous at first. She didn't know many people yet and wasn't sure where to sit. Luckily, her teammate Daniel waved her over to an empty chair. Within minutes, they were talking about everything from weekend plans to the company's funniest work stories.

Halfway through the evening, the manager stood up to give a short speech. She thanked everyone for their hard work, especially the support team, who had spent long hours helping clients during a technical issue the previous month. Everyone clapped and cheered, and a few people even shouted jokes from their tables.

Later, the waiter brought out desserts, and someone suggested playing a quick game of trivia about company facts. The questions were silly, but it made people laugh and relax even more. By the end of the night, Lena felt like she really belonged. She left the restaurant smiling, thinking that joining GreenWave Solutions had been one of her best decisions.
