SCRIPT: A ROUGH MEETING

Shaun: Ideally, you'd meet with the director, say, once a week. What do you think? Sounds good? Great. So...

Ethan: Shaun, sorry to interrupt, but I thought we were here to discuss this?

Shaun: We are. We're discussing how to do it. So Thiago, you're our tech guru. Do you want to work with Lyanna?

Mike: So we're doing this? You've already made the decision?

Shaun: Well yes. Lyanna has approved it. Come on. It'll be fun. You get to work with the people running the company. It's great for your career.

Thiago: Sorry, Shaun, but how do we find time for this? We're all really busy.

Shaun: It's an hour a week, that's all.

Jasmine: Um, Shaun. We're not trained coaches. I'm not sure I'd be comfortable working with people like Lyanna and Graham.

Ethan: Look, Shaun, let's not rush into anything. We don't have to take an immediate decision on this. Can we go away and think about it?

Shaun: Think about what? These people pay your salaries. They need your help. It's that simple.

Thiago: Will we get paid extra? I'm just asking...

Shaun: I'm disappointed, guys. Really disappointed. I have a great idea, and this is how you react./ Anyway, I've told Lyanna about it. It's going ahead. So, you can either like it or learn to like it. Right. Who's going to work with Graham?
