#31*Teacher's Guide*SCRIPT: WEEKLY ACTIVITIES

Daughter: Dad, can I go to a movie this week with Shannon?

Father: Here. Try this. It's called a book. [Ah, Dad!] Moby Dick. An American classic. [Dad!] Okay. Let me look at the schedule here. Hmm. When are you thinking about going to the movie?

Daughter: Uh, we're thinking about seeing the movie on Wednesday after school.

Father: Well, that's not gonna [going to] work. You have piano lessons after school and then you have to babysit for the neighbors until 9:00.

Daughter: What about Monday?

Father: Monday's out. You haven't practiced your clarinet at all . . . for an entire month, so you have to catch up on that. And, don't you have an essay due in your English class on Tuesday?

Daughter: Oh, I forgot about that, [Yeah.] and anyway, I was gonna [going to] finish that during first period at school.

Father: Great. I've never heard of a three-sentence essay.

Daughter: So, what about Tuesday?

Father: Uh, you have soccer practice from 4:00 until 5:30, and after that, you have to do your homework.

Daughter: Ah, you can help me with that. Oh, I forgot you don't know how to do geometry. So, can I see the movie on Thursday?

Father: Well, remember the science fair is at school on Friday, right? Is, is your project finished yet?

Daughter: Umm, what about Friday night? I checked the paper, and there's a midnight showing.

Father: Uh-uh. Forget that idea.

Daughter: And Saturday?

Father: Well, you have to do your chores in the morning before noon.

Daughter: You can help me with that.

Father: Oh no. And then, we have to clean out the garage. You said you'd help.

Daughter: No, you volunteered me.

Father: Well, that should only take a couple of hours.

Daughter: Dad, you're ruining my social life.

Father: And then, after that, we can go to the movie.

Daughter: We?

Father: Yeah, We. Mom and I and you and Shannon.

Daughter: Uh, Dad, actually. We weren't planning on company.

Father: Now, let me check the paper for showtimes.

Daughter: The movie plays at 3:05, 5:00, 7:15, and 9:00.

Father: You've already checked, I see.

Daughter: Yeah. So is it okay? Can I go see the 9:00 o'clock showing?

Father: The 5:00 o'clock showing!

Daughter: How about the 7:00 o'clock showing?

Father: And why are you so concerned about the show time?

Daughter: Well, I don't know if I'll get all of my chores and homework done before then.

Father: Sorry, but I want you to get to bed earlier that night, and so, I can drop you off at the movie theater about 4:30 so you'll have time to get tickets.

Daughter: Uh, Dad. Can I have money for the movie?

Father: Sure, just go into the family bank vault behind a secret mirror in the hall and take a few hundred. [Dad!] Look. I can only spare a few dollars, so you'll have to come up with the rest, okay?

Daughter: Okay. Thanks, Dad.
